Bowery Mission Supporters Hit the Streets for a Half-Marathon in place of the Cancelled New York City Marathon and raise over $100,000 For Those Living in the Streets

NEW YORK – November 1, 2020 – While New Yorkers and the world have faced shutdowns and cancellations, efforts to support New York’s most vulnerable population cannot be cancelled. At a time when the typical fundraising galas and gatherings are prohibited, a group of Bowery Mission supporters came together to organize a half marathon to raise money for The Bowery Mission.

On Sunday, November 1, 2020, Alain Bernard, President & CEO of Richemont North America, Marie de Foucaud and Agathe Louvet, along with 22 friends, ran a half marathon across Manhattan and raised over $100,000 to support The Bowery Mission's efforts to help people experiencing homelessness and poverty during the COVID-19 pandemic. The donated amount (to date) will provide more than 170 meals a day for Bowery Mission guests for a year.

The group originally planned to run on the same date with The Bowery Mission's charity team to raise funds in the TCS New York City Marathon, but when the race was understandably canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the trio knew they still wanted to support The Bowery Mission. "We are so happy to be able to take charge of our running and support The Bowery Mission in this fun way today, despite the cancellation of the NYC marathon. A huge thank you to all who donated, and the runners who so enthusiastically and immediately gathered to serve others," said Bernard.

"We are incredibly grateful for our long friendships with partners like Alain, Marie and Agathe – and for their determination and creativity in the face of the initial setback," says James Winans, President & CEO of The Bowery Mission. "They know the critical needs that The Bowery Mission meets, using the donations raised during the marathon. Thank you to all 25 runners for this great feat, the funds raised will allow us to continue to provide services to men and women experiencing homelessness, including our neighbors displaced since the pandemic began."

Since the 1870s, The Bowery Mission has stood with New Yorkers who are unhoused, food insecure, unemployed, and economically marginalized or displaced. During times of crisis, from the 1918 flu pandemic to the Great Depression to Hurricane Sandy, The Bowery Mission's work becomes even more critical. Since the COVID-19 shutdown in March, The Bowery Mission has provided more than 213,000 life-sustaining meals and 55,000 nights of safe shelter to New York's most vulnerable, along with critically-needed hygiene and other services.
